It is time for the gov't to move on and stop hindering the productivity and creativity of the software company that single-handedly stopped the maddness of the duplicity of operating systems (software companies had to re-write the old code just to make it available on the different systems instead of innovating), stopped the maddness of the duplicity of office software products that all worked differently, wouldn't talk to each other and made computers hard to work with and limited people to working effectively from product to product. Oh...by the way, do you remember the price of Lotus 123, which didn't have a new upgrade (1a to 2 and 2.1) for 3 years.... $395. We now get in MS Office Excel, Word, Powerpoint, Outlook and Access for less!

Quit it. They have innovated, made the product available to everyone all for a significantly less price. Go chase some terrorists!
